OVER 300 REGISTER FOR AFFORDABLE CARE ACT SEMINAR, ADDITIONAL SPACE STILL AVAILABLE

CHARLOTTE – More than 350 business leaders, healthcare providers, and ordinary citizens have already registered to attend Congressman Robert Pittenger's educational seminar on the Affordable Care Act, scheduled for this Tuesday, January 29th, 8 a.m., at CPCC's Harris Conference Center.

"Many of these regional business leaders and healthcare professionals have told me they are confused by the new government requirements and regulations," said Congressman Pittenger. "They welcome this opportunity to better understand the full impact of the Affordable Care Act. This seminar will be about informing and preparing, and is not for debate purposes."

Michael Tanner, a senior fellow with the Cato Institute, will give an in-depth presentation on new regulations being implemented in 2013 and 2014, with a special emphasis on the impact to business. Doug Dickerson, North Carolina Director for AARP, will also speak, sharing important information on how new regulations impact employed seniors.

Additional guests are welcome to attend. To register for this free event, call Chris Sullivan at 704-365-6234 or go to pittenger.house.gov/AffordableCareActPresentation.

Additional participants include Central Piedmont Community College, Charlotte Chamber, Carolina Business Review, Presbyterian Hospital, AARP North Carolina, NFIB North Carolina, and Carolinas Healthcare System.

Members of the media planning to cover the event are encouraged to contact Jamie Bowers to discuss logistics at 704-365-6234 or jamie.bowers@mail.house.gov.
